

10th Annual Genetics Education Symposium:
Fostering Multidisciplinary Collaboration between Genetics and Cardiology
October 9, 2024

Dear Potential Exhibitor:

On behalf of Cleveland Clinic's Center for Personalized Genetic Healthcare and activity directors Abigail Kacpura, DO, and Jeffrey Bennett, MD, PhD, we invite you to exhibit during the 10th Annual Genetics Education Symposium: Fostering Multidisciplinary Collaboration between Genetics and Cardiology.

The course will be held on October 9 at the InterContinental Hotel & Conference Center in Cleveland, Ohio. A live stream option is also available. The exhibit area will be located outside the educational sessions in the amphitheater. Exhibit opportunities are available on a first come, first served basis.

We anticipate 150 participants and faculty at the Symposium.

To view exhibit levels and to reserve your space, please visit our website at:

<https://www.clevelandclinicmeded.com/live/courses/genetics/exhibit.asp>

This program will review the latest advances in the genetics and genomics of cardiovascular conditions and provide state-of-the-art information to healthcare providers. Expert Cleveland Clinic and guest faculty will present clinical- and research-based presentations highlighting the integration of genetics and genomics into clinical practice.

The Symposium is targeted to physicians, geneticists, physician assistants, nurse practitioners, and other healthcare professionals seeking to learn the latest developments in cardiogenetics, especially providers in cardiology, clinical genetics, molecular genetics pathology, internal medicine, and pediatrics. Trainees and students interested in genomic medicine and related topics are also encouraged to attend.

If you wish to participate, there are two payment options. Exhibitors may pay by credit card while registering on the website, or choose to pay later by check. If you choose the later, checks should be made payable to The Cleveland Clinic Educational Foundation, (Tax ID # 34-0714553) and mailed to:
